

HOW THE VOTE IS GOING NOW

Reports From All Over the County Point to a Very Heavy Vote Today.

THE DAY IS DEMOCRATIC WEATHER

Roosevelt and Parker Both Have Cast Their Little Ballots--Weather Bad All Over the Country.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

New York, Nov. 8.—The president reached Jersey City at 7:15 this morning on his way to Oyster Bay to vote. At Jersey City he was escorted to the navy tug Lancaster, and after a short voyage around the lower end of New York reached Long Island City at 8 o'clock where he boarded a special on the Long Island railroad and started for Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt cast his ballot in precinct five at East Main street over Bishop's very stable, at 9:50. When he arrived at the station he received an ovation of a hundred children waving flags. It took the president only a minute to vote. Afterwards he shook hands with a score of friends and entered his carriage and drove round town. He left at eleven.

Parker Voted

Esopus, Nov. 8.—The day dawned crisp and clear. The Parker family, friends and neighborhood hailed the faultless weather as a good omen. Parker slept later than on any day since the St. Louis convention. He arose shortly after eight o'clock, read the newspapers before breakfast. At half past eight he ate his breakfast with his family discussing morning news with them and appearing cheerful and confident. A private telephone which is connected with the national headquarters in New York brought him a message of good cheer. At 10 o'clock Parker started in a hack for Kingston where he cast his ballot this afternoon. As he passed through the village a small crowd of neighbors sent up an impromptu cheer.

Both Sides Eager

New York, Nov. 8.—Both sides claim the state this morning, the republicans apparently with most confidence. To the unbiased observer it looks as if the state would be close with the result in doubt. The betting is two to one in favor of Roosevelt; the same odds favor Herrick. Gov. O'Dell has admitted the republican state ticket will run thirty to forty thousand behind the National ticket. This probably accounts for the confidence of Herrick. Odd on the general result are five to one on Roosevelt. It is estimated that three million has been won in this city.

Democratic Weather

Madison, Nov. 8.—Light rain is falling in southern Wisconsin. The democrats regard this as a favorable omen. Weather has cleared up and a heavy vote came out early in southern Wisconsin. It is the latest vote for years to be cast in the state. This should assure the return of La Follette. The stalwarts are exceedingly active and are working with the democrats at the voting places advocating the election of the democratic state ticket rather than their own.

At Detroit

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—A heavy vote is being polled throughout the state of Michigan. The weather is clear. The democrats claim the governor, but admit Roosevelt will carry the state.

CUBAN CONGRESS IS AGAIN HOLDING THEIR SESSIONS

President Palma's Annual Message Deals With the Needs of the Baby Republic.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

Havana, Nov. 8.—The winter session of Congress opened Monday. There were less than half a dozen absentees in each house, and the proceedings were characterized by friendliness.

In his message, President Palma, after detailing the progress made in paying off the 50 per cent due the veterans, the total amounting to $28,500,000, asked congress to decide in what manner the remaining half should be raised or to suggest other mode of settlement, and suggested that the difficulty might be obviated by the creation of a debt bearing interest at 3 per cent per annum.

Asks Sanitary Grant

President Palma called attention to Cuba's responsibility under the Platt amendment for proper sanitation throughout the island, and asked congress to appropriate sufficient money for that purpose and authorize definite executive control thereof. The mortality has been ten months in the

Indianapolis Busy

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—Fairbanks slept until nearly ten o'clock this morning. The senator is tired from his long campaigning and decided to have a good rest. Chairman Tom Taggart voted at 6:30 this morning and saw personally to getting out the vote in every precinct.

In Chicago

There was trouble at over a hundred polling places in the state before noon. Alleged attempts were made of illegal votes and many arrests were made. Reports in the state indicate a very heavy vote is being polled early and at most places the voters were still standing in line at ten o'clock. At Indianapolis the early vote was unprecedented.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 8.—With the sky deeply overcast but accompanied by ideal temperature the voting began at six this morning. Indications point to a big vote. The polls close at four.

Half the city's ballot boxes were full before eleven o'clock. It looked like a very heavy vote. Probably three hundred and seventy-five thousand votes will be polled. The evidence is of a heavy and favorable vote which may reach fifty thousand.

St. Louis Cloudy

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—The weather was cloudy and cool the polls opened at six and a good sized vote was cast early. By nine the weather cleared. The heavy voting continued. Folk this morning claimed he would carry the state outside of St. Louis by eighty-five thousand.

Very Misty

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—Election day dawned with a cloudy sky, a misty rain falling; the polls opened at six with large crowds lined up to get their votes cast. — polling will be heavy.

Nebraska Jubilant

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 8.—The weather is clear and warm. A big vote is being cast. The greatest interest is in the gubernatorial contest.

Clear and Cold

New York, Nov. 8.—Election day is to be clear and cold. The voting is proceeding quietly and rapidly. The ballots were cast at the rate of over one a minute the first hour in the first hour in many election districts of this city. Only a few arrests for illegal voting were made in the first two hours.

At Kansas City

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—The early vote was very light. The day opened with a fog but the weather cleared.

Roosevelt and Folk had the heaviest vote during the forenoon. There is nothing to warrant the republican claim that Missouri is a doubtful state.

At Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8.—It is cloudy and cool here. A heavy early vote was reported in Pittsburgh and at Allegheny.

Vote is Heavy

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 8.—A heavy vote is being cast in Minnesota. The weather is fair. Roosevelt will carry the state by seventy-five thousand.

Hill—That Thanksgiving turkey seems to be rather small and apparently will have a very dark brown taste.

Dunn, republican, will be elected governor.

At Quakertown

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—Fine weather and very heavy balloting here for Roosevelt and the straight republican ticket.

St. Louis Cloudy

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—Fifty thousand votes were cast up to noon of thirty-five thousand were republican. The total vote may reach 100,000. The contest between Mitchell and Pierce for the state capital is very spirited.

Rioting in Colorado

At Colorado, Deputy Sheriff James Warford shot and killed Constables Miller and Lebold who were attempting to elect voters from the polling places. The dead men were union miners and democrats.

He was instantly killed. His left leg was cut to pieces and his right leg completely severed from the body. His right arm was badly mangled and his skull fractured. Early last evening Wilson had trouble with Samuel Wilke, who is married to his sister. He struck Wilke and the latter threatened him with arrest. COACH COCHEMS IS TREATED SHABBILY

By Curtis and O'Dea, So He Thinks—Case Similar to McCarthy's—His Plans Refused.

(Special to The Gazette.)

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Assistant Coach E. H. Cochems watched the Gophers play Lawrence university at Minneapolis Saturday and returned with a plan for defensive formations to meet the Minnesota attack, also several suggestions which he thought valuable as the basis of trick plays. Some of these ideas are being developed at Camp Randall this week, but others have been cast aside as unsafe and dangerous. A conference of coaches was held Sunday afternoon attended by Coaches Curtis, Cochems, Trainer O'Dea and others. Cochems made his report and outlined his plans. He has complained to his friends that Trainer O'Dea was able to influence Head Coach Curtis into vetoing most of the lessons learned by Cochems at Minneapolis, and every one of the assistant coach's suggestions for trick plays. The trainer has been at Madison for many years and is strong in the influence he wields over the entire athletic department. He is an exceedingly conservative man and is constitutionally opposed to what is called in athletics "taking chances." He believes in playing straight football and not employing such methods as may win by good chance or may lose by adverse fortune. Head Coach Curtis has the utmost respect for his opinion and consults him freely. This was true a year ago and the fact caused bad feeling on the part of the then Assistant Coach Charles McCarthy. Now at the end of the present season the same thing is showing itself and is taken unlikely by the present assistant coach, E. H. Cochems. Recently Mr. Cochems asked that the trainer have roast pork served more frequently at the training table and the interference was resented in vigorous language by Trainer O'Dea. Now the assistant coach wants the trainer to keep out of the coaching department. The light work of the Badgers continues and so hard scrimmages will be held in preparation for Minnesota Saturday.

RUSSIA HOPES FOR THE BEST

Encouraging News From Mukden Is Being Disseminated at St. Petersburg.

DESPAIR FOR PORT ARTHUR NEXT

Occurrences at the Eastern Capitol Are Covered Up by the Officials Who Make Capitol of General Kuroptakin's Maneuvers.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—While anxiety tinged with despair is manifested regarding the situation at Port Arthur, over which an impenetrable veil has again been thrown, official and unofficial circles in St. Petersburg find a little consolation in the latest news from the theater of operations south of Mukden.

Dispatches from Mukden indicate that the prospects of a Japanese attack on the Russian positions are growing steadily dimmer. It is realized that every day's delay is of the utmost importance to Kourapatkin, whose aim now is to make his positions in front of Mukden as impregnable as engineering skill can make them, and at the same time to concentrate an overwhelmingly superior force of men and guns along the Shalke river.

It is believed here that Kourapatkin has already made his position so strong that a frontal attack would be suicidal for the Japanese, who, according to correspondents at Mukden, are now outnumbered both in men and guns.

Fighting Is in Progress.

Dispatches from the front vaguely intimate that fighting of more or less severity is in progress along the entire line, and that Kourapatkin is directing his attention to keeping the Japanese busy and worried. Heavy field trains of artillery are constantly arriving at the Russian positions, and these with additional mortar batteries are being brought into service as quickly as they arrive.

With heavy artillery fire the Russians both night and day search the positions held by the Japanese and do great damage. The advance lines of both armies, which extend from Bentlapuzze on the east to the Liao river on the west, are in some places almost within a stone's throw of each other. At one point in the line Japanese and Russians occupy the same village, which, save for the troops, is empty. Here a battle in miniature is incessantly in progress.

Will Fight All Winter.

In official circles here it is believed that, incredible as it may appear, the armies will pass the winter in the positions they now occupy. The Russians are already building villages of mud huts in the rear of their positions, while on both sides of the river the ground is being transformed into a veritable ant-hill of caves and bomb-proof retreats.

Correspondents declare that the Russian positions on the north bank of the Shalke are of the strongest and most ingenious construction imaginable.

Loses Many Officers.

The appalling loss in officers, sustained by the Russian army in the fighting at Liao Yang and south of Mukden, is evidenced in the orders for the mobilization of all the reserves of officers in St. Petersburg, Vilna, Warsaw, Kieff, Odessa, Moscow, Kazan and the Caucasus.

In the fighting which terminated at the Shalke river it is estimated that Kourapatkin lost nearly 1,500 officers. It is pointed out that the mobilization now ordered, while it is intended primarily to supply the enormous deficiency in the army, is also necessitated by the fact that the future operations in Manchuria will be prosecuted by Russia on much larger scale than heretofore. It is the belief of many well informed authorities, that the fighting in the future will be even bloodier than in the past.

Situation in East Korea.

Regarding the situation on the eastern coast of Korea, advices from Genzan are to the effect that 15,000 Russian troops are south of the Tumen river, with thirty-two guns. Of these 6,000 of the main body are quartered at Kyungsuang, 2,000 along the coast in town garrisons and 4,000 cavalry are thrown out westward in small bodies, menacing the Japanese lines of communication and railway construction between Ping Yang and Wiju, by frequent cross-country raids, who never strike twice in the same place or come to close quarters.

The remaining 3,000 are operating in strong scouting detachments to the southward.

GAS EXPLOSION COST ONE LIFE IN A CHICAGO SHOP

Natural Gas Explodes in Chicago—Many Were Injured, and One Man Killed.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—One person was killed and five injured when the building at 76 East Twenty-fourth street was wrecked at 8:30 o'clock Monday night by an explosion of natural gas, caused, it is said, by leakage in the tailor shop of Samuel Fisher, at that number. Fisher, who was taken unconscious to the Wesley hospital, was blown through the side of the house, striking the car tracks in Cottage Grove avenue, as a cable car was passing.

So great was the force of the explosion that the cigar store of T. H. Jones, adjoining Fisher's building, was demolished. Mr. Jones was thrown to the ground, and a customer, W. F. Nicholas was hurled across the room. The streets were filled with debris and a potted palm was hurled 100 yards by the blast.

Dead and Injured.

Samuel Fisher, tailor, 31 years old, taken to Wesleyan hospital unconscious, and died at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Mary Fisher, his wife, 27 years old, severe cuts on face and badly bruised.

Moseley Fisher, 7 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, stunned and cut by flying glass.

Saddle Lavigne 6 years old, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, shocked and cut by flying glass.

Mrs. Bertha McWilliams, 21 O'Brien street, cut while escaping from second story.

Mrs. H. A. White, cut on forehead while in the room on upper floor.

Several other persons in the upper stories of the house had narrow escapes. Miss McWilliams leaped from the second story into the arms of two men.

Notices Smell of Gas.

Fisher was working at his bench when the explosion came. The children had been put to bed, and Mrs.

Fisher was reading. Neighbors say that they smelled escaping gas all day. Mrs. White declared that she knew the pipes were in a bad condition, and had notified the agent of the gas company to make repairs.

"The explosion," said Nicholas, who was in the cigar store, "seemed to come in three distinct shocks. It was like the rumbling of a volcano, or a volley from a battery or rapid fire guns. The detonation was heard blocks away."

Catch Woman as She Jumps.

Before the flying splinters and glass had settled, George W. Swift and W. F. Kenny, who were in a drug store opposite, regardless of the possibility of further explosions, ran to the rescue of the injured persons. They caught Miss McWilliams as she plunged from an upper window; then carried Fisher into the drug store, where Dr. F. F. Malone attended him. The two children, dazed and crying, were brought in a moment later. They had been found in their night clothes in a corner of a bedroom. The boy had just gone to bed, and his cousin was on her knees, saying her prayers, when the explosion occurred.

Canary Is Unhurt.

The ceiling and walls of the upstairs rooms were shattered, and every light of glass in the three-story house was broken. A canary bird was found in its cage after the explosion unharmed and singing.

Miss McWilliams gave the following account of her experience: "I had been sitting in my room reading, when suddenly everything became dark, and with a crash the plaster fell from the ceiling. The jar caused the furniture to rise from the floor. I screamed for help. No answer came. Around there was the crashing of glass and the shouting of men who had hurried to the rescue. Confused, I groped my way to a window, where I leaped."

JEFFRIS CLOSES GREAT CAMPAIGN

TELLS HIS AUDIENCE TO VOTE CAREFULLY TODAY.

HE EXPOSES ADMINISTRATION

Flays the System Which Now Governs the State—Tells Bits of State History.

Malcolm G. Jeffris closed the republican campaign at the Myers opera-house last evening. In a speech teeming with biting sarcasm and facts the speaker tore the lid off the state administration and exposed the doings of the state departments from governor down to janitor in the basement. It was not a tirade of abuse, but a statement of truths stranger than fiction. Mr. Jeffris was at his best. He spoke to an enthusiastic audience of manufacturers, workingmen, merchants, lawyers, and doctors. He was speaking to a home audience, an audience in hearty approval of his ideas and the doctrines he preached. It is a wonderful address and when he closed his talk the audience was reluctant to leave and applauded vigorously for ten minutes, still keeping their seats in the hopes he would continue his talk.

Large Audience

The theatre was filled from pit to dome. There was not a place to stand in the whole building and a thousand disappointed people were forced to turn away from the doors unable to even crowd inside. George S. Parker presided and in a few well chosen words introduced Mr. Jeffris. The applause was immense. No other word defines the enthusiasm. Mr. Jeffris began his address with "Friends." He then entered into the spirit of his address. He flayed La Follette, the politician, in language that could not be misunderstood. He showed his ambition in a pose that has not hitherto been granted him. He dared the La Follette press to deny any of his statements and then took up the bills and machine that La Follette has constructed "For God's patient poor." Oil inspectors, game wardens, factory inspectors and all the vast political army that work the will of the governor were mercilessly exposed to light of day in no creditable light.

When the opportunity came Mr. Jeffris paid a tribute to Senator Whitehead that was received with even more enthusiastic applause than any other portion of his address. He said in part: "If Rock or any other county ever had an honest man in its legislature John M. Whitehead was that man." He defined La Follette, not as a republican, not as a democrat, but as a populist pure and simple. He admitted La Follette's nerve and used Lincoln's career to show what the world would have lost had a primary election law been in force when he was chosen for president. The primary received due attention. The evils of this proposed legislation was fully discussed.

Is He Honest?

The speaker doubted the governor's honesty of purpose. He told how, after the interstate commerce law was passed by congress making it a crime for any government official to travel on a pass, Governor La Follette, then a congressman, traveled from Madison to Washington and back in 1887, 1888, 1889 and 1890 on a pass and then put his bill into congress for transportation. He told of the dramatic features in La Follette's addresses, the climaxes which he reaches and these continue night after night. He told of the governor's disregard for public or private woe. He illustrated his charges with specific instances; told of the appointment of the sheriff of St. Croix county; told of his attempt to have his friend appointed representative of the Burlington road before their former representative was laid in his coffin. He depicted La Follette's doctrine as "For God's patient poor. But, oh God, if your poor interfere with my politics you take care of your poor." "Two years ago," continued the speaker, "I sat on this stage and introduced La Follette to a Janesville audience. Lord forgive me." He then read from Alexander Hamilton's works to illustrate the point he made that even Alexander years before La Follette was born told the public to beware of such a man. The two thousand dollar book deal was touched on and the voters were urged to so cast their ballots today as to end this abuse of public office.

CAUGHT MAN WITH STOLEN OVERCOAT

Frank O'Gara of Milwaukee, Found Wearing Garment Taken from Ziegler's Store.

About six o'clock last evening an overcoat valued at $16.50 was stolen from a dummy in front of the Ziegler Clothing Co.'s store on Milwaukee street. Acting Chief Brown and Officer Fanning started on the trail of the thief and about three hours later came across a smooth looking stranger at the corner of Jackson and Milwaukee streets who wore a garment that seemed to answer descriptions. The fellow was taken in tow to the city hall where he was detained pending the arrival of Joseph Connors of the Ziegler Co. When the latter reached the scene he immediately identified the coat as the one taken from the store. Another bundle of clothing alleged to have been stolen from a room over Watson's restaurant was also found in the hands of the prisoner. He gave his name as Frank O'Gara and his residence as Reed street, Milwaukee. He told the officers that he came here to work in the sugar-beet fields.

The New Women's Golf Champion—England's Greatest Steeplechase Rider.

Miss Georgianna Bishop, the new women's golf champion of the United States, is a member of the Brooklawn Golf club of Bridgeport, Conn.

Miss Bishop has long been known to players of the great game. She has competed in several national and sectional championship contests.

Miss Bishop is known as an erratic player. At times the merest tyro can defeat her, but when in form she is invincible, as indicated at the recent championship tourney at Merion, Pa., near Philadelphia.

Miss Bishop's victory is all the more creditable when it is remembered in the Merion tourney Miss Charlotte Dod, champion of Great Britain, and Miss Frances Grison of Philadelphia, twice champion of America, competed against her.

Both Miss Dod and Miss Grison were put out early in the contest, much to the surprise of the onlookers.

Deloit, James R. Keene's speedy three-year-old, which has earned more money this year than any thoroughbred in training, has so closely approached the $100,000 mark, so coveted by owners of all great horses and so seldom reached, that one overnight purse would place him in the titled role.

As Deloit has been retired for the year this honor must be deferred until next year. As it is, he has won something over $90,000 as a two and three year old and stands today as the largest money winner ever bred at Castleton stud, Lexington, Ky.

In the estimation of most race goers Beldame, Stutwatt, Ort Wells and Broomstick outrank Deloit among this year's three-year-olds, but he has the distinction at least of earning more money.

Beldame's winnings for her two seasons are approximately $75,000, while Ort Wells follows with $70,000, Stutwatt with $67,000 and Broomstick with $63,000.

Percy Woodland, who headed the list of winning steeple chase riders in England last season and who added to his fame by capturing the Grand National Steeple Chase this year at Aintree, is the leading gentleman rider of Great Britain.

He is regularly licensed and rides against professional jockeys on even terms. He is twenty-two years old and comes of a family that has bred, reared and ridden horses for generations. He is a relative of the English turf notable, Mr. Morrison, whose horse, Drumree, he rode in the Aintree event.

There is a practical unanimity among baseball men of all leagues and conditions on one point, whatever their differences on everything else that concerns the game. All agree there is need of some change in the rules or the play to handicap the pitcher before he becomes an absolute czar.

THREE HUNDRED AT AN AUTUMN DANCE

Given by Young Ladies' Sodality, of St. Patrick's Church at Assembly Hall Last Night.

Assembly hall was in gala dress last evening. Flowers and ferns and potted plants, tastefully arranged by skillful hands, cosy nooks and an orchestra stand heavily banked with ferns all contributed to make the scene an attractive and alluring one. All these preparations were made for the autumn party of the Young Ladies' sodality of St. Patrick's church. Three hundred people were in attendance and Smith & Knoff's orchestra furnished the music. The committees were: Arrangements—Elizabeth Joyce, Margaret Bowen, and Rose McManis; reception—Dorothy Madhouse, Catharine Crowley, Elizabeth Joyce, Nora McCooley, Rose McManis, and Margaret Bowen; floor—William Connell, Dr. Kennedy, Thomas Heffernan, Joseph Shields, Harry Haggart, and John Lyons.

COSTLY BRIDGES OVER ROCK MUST GO

A $100,000 Structure in Illinois; Another $40,000 One, Condemned—War Dept. Says River is Navigable.

Because the Board of Supervisors of Whiteside and Rock Island counties, Ill., did not get the consent of the war department to erect a bridge over Rock river, the $100,000 structure will have to be removed. Another bridge now being constructed across the Rock at Sterling may also have to go. This bridge is being built at a cost of $100,000. The war department holds that the Rock river is a navigable stream, and that bridges cannot be erected without the consent of congress of the approval of the war department, and that all bridges so erected must be removed. Four bridges across the river in that vicinity were erected under the same conditions. As the Wisconsin portion of the Rock was not used for commercial navigation for over a decade it was declared to be no longer a navigable stream. The new Court street bridge is probably safer all time.

MUSKEGON HOSPITAL DEDICATION ON NOV. 17

Charles H. Hackley's Gift to the City Is Another Example of Philanthropist's Foresight.

Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 8.—Muskegon's civic holiday, Nov. 17, is to be marked by the opening exercises incident to the dedication of the Hackley hospital. President Angell of the University of Michigan has promised to be present to deliver an address.

The hospital is a gift to the city of Muskegon from her foremost citizen, benefactor and philanthropist, Charles H. Hackley. It is pleasantly situated in the center of a space, two blocks in extent, in the southwest part of the city and cost, together with the endowment for the support and maintenance of the institution, upward of $200,000. The building itself is a handsome structure of brick and stone, almost fireproof and first-class in all its appointments. Its equipment is thoroughly modern and replete with every surgical and medical appliance necessary to an institution of this character. Experts have pronounced it as nearly ideal as the exacting requirements of modern science demand.

The capacity of the hospital, seventy-five beds, is in excess of the present demands, ample provision having been made for the future growth and expansion of the city and, with it, the increased demands upon the requirements of the hospital. Incidentally it furnishes another evidence of the donor's foresight and generosity.

This is only one of Philanthropist Hackley's numerous donations to the city. These include a manual training school, the Hackley public school, a monument to the soldiers and sailors of the United States, a public library and a monument to our martyred president, William McKinley. These benefactions represent an outlay of nearly two million dollars. No city of similar size in the United States can boast so much from one of its citizens.

A Pleasant Birthday Party.

Frank J. Blek was happily surprised by a number of his friends at his home on Center avenue Saturday evening and the guests presented him with a handsome chair. The evening was spent in playing cards. Mrs. Chas. Murphy was the lucky one to carry away the ladies first prize. Miss May Gardner and Alfred Rudolph won the consolation prizes after which a tasty supper was served and the guests all departed wishing their host many happy returns of the day.

Celluloid Hats.

An Austrian genius has made the discovery that celluloid, prepared in a special way, provides a material out of which hats and the most delicate flowers can be made. These hats are not only beautiful in themselves and cannot be told from those made of the usual material, but will stand the most severe shower and look even better after than before. They are used to some extent in Germany, especially in Vienna.

Poverty-Stricken Chinese.

The better classes of Chinese eat three meals a day, but the poverty-stricken could often have to be satisfied with but one, for his average pay amounts to but 10 cents a day.

PRISON FOR BOSTON OFFICIALS

Others in Examination.

Boston, Nov. 8.—State Representative Thomas F. Curley and Alderman James M. Curley were sentenced in the United States court to serve two months in jail for having impersonated James J. Hughes and Bartholomew Foley at a civil service examination. The latter received a similar sentence. Thomas F. Curley is a candidate for re-election to the legislature, and the judge remarked that those who voted for him shared his shame.

Shoots His Wife.

Moberly, Mo., Nov. 8.—William Hayes mortally wounded his wife, the bullet tearing away her right eye.

Engineer P. Whalen and Fireman J. Higgins left on Mineral Point, being off duty for the purpose of voting.

The Mineral Point time and way-freights which regularly leave at 2:15 and 7:00 a. m., respectively, were held over until 9:30 in order to allow the crews to cast their ballots.

REFERENDUM VOTES TO ABANDON STRIKE

Hoisting Engineers Decide to Return to Work at Scale Offered by the Mine Operators.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 8.—In an order issued Monday afternoon Mack Taylor, president of the Hoisting Engineers' Union of Illinois, declares the strike of the hoisting engineers off in obedience to a referendum vote, which resulted 750 to 315 in favor of returning to work.

The question of joining the United Mineworkers of America will be submitted to a referendum vote, but there is little doubt that the engineers will decide to join the larger organization. The engineers return to work at a scale 6 1/2 per cent less than what they received last year. None of them will be discriminated against by the operators because of having struck. Mines probably will reopen on Wednesday.

Union a Thing of the Past.

La Salle, Ill., Nov. 8.—The Hoisting Engineers' union in Illinois is a thing of the past. All the coal mines in this district resumed operations as if there had been no strike. The old engineers have returned to work and have joined the miners' union.

Why Engineers Are Opposed.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 8.—The United Mineworker, (the official organ of the miners' organization, explains why the big labor union takes sides with the Illinois operators and against the mine engineers' union, as was also done in Indiana two years ago when the engineers went on a strike and engineers were furnished from the ranks of the miners. "The engineers have refused to acknowledge the interdependence of workingmen," says the official organ. "They refuse to arbitrate and go it alone. The justice of their demand we do not discuss, but the United Mineworkers have contracts with the Illinois operators and are going to keep their contracts. The mine operators of Illinois are, we believe, when taken as a whole, as fair-minded and as honorable a set of employers as can be found under the sun. They offered to arbitrate and when the engineers refused there was no alternative for the United Mineworkers but to fulfill their contracts."

Significance of Wedding Cake.

The wedding cake was (and is) the most important feature of wedding feasts. It was supposed to insure the bride and groom from poverty, at least of table. Wheat or corn used to be used for the same reason, either in the decoration or by the bride's carrying a few stalks in her hand through the wedding ceremony.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE

Biology has proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by dissolving into the scalp to get at the root of the hair,

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, November 8, 1864.—The Election.—The day has been wet, gloomy and uncomfortable enough even for a presidential election. Not a trace of anything like a disturbance occurred as far as we can ascertain, but people voted and went quietly about their business. The indications are that the Union ticket will be elected though we believe that the McGowan men had out their full strength. At half past three o'clock the vote stood as follows in the various wards: First ward, 294; Second ward, 272; Third ward, 103; Fourth ward, 206.

DISCLOSES STORY OF MURDERERS

Under Threat of Imprisonment Chief Sivildid Discloses Crime.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 8.—Three murders have been disclosed among the Indians of British Columbia as the result of the arrest of Chief Sivildid of the northern Indians, who was made responsible by the authorities for keeping the facts of these crimes from the whites. The chief was told that he was to be sentenced to a long imprisonment. To get off he told how two of the Indians of his tribe who desired to give a potlatch killed an Indian girl and robbed her of $200 that they might use the booty for their festivities. He also told of the killing of a white man and another Indian two years ago by the same Indians for the same purpose.

ENCKE COMET ON RETURN TRIP

Seen With Telescope. Although Its Light Is Very Feeble.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Encke's comet was seen at the United States naval observatory Sunday night, and again Monday night, with the 12-inch equatorial telescope. Its radiance, however, is so feeble that as yet the comet is barely visible in the telescope as a patch of light. Several days, perhaps, will elapse before accurate observations can be made of its position. It is evident that its position follows clearly the path predicted for the return of the comet.

THE REASON MADE PLAIN.

Awkward Man's Dancing Accounted for by Accident.

Capt. Spencer-Clay, who is to marry Miss Pauline Astor, is well known in the American colony of London. "Clay," said a young American, "is an amusing chap. Going about from place to place, he picks up a myriad of odd and taking episodes. These he stores away, and during lulls in conversations he relates them with vivacity."

He described the other day a dance at his place in Surrey. He said two girls were there who were jealous of one another. The first girl danced with a tall and awkward fellow, and afterward she sat down beside her rival. Clay, who stood near by, then heard her say:

"I have been dancing with Mr. Smith."
"Yes," said the other girl.
"Mr. Smith," she went on, with a complacent laugh, "pays beautiful compliments. He said that, till he met me, his life had been a desert."
"Ah," said the second girl, "that is why he dances like a camel, eh?"

Busy New England Women.

Somerset county is bragging a bit on its smart women, says the "Lewis-ton Journal." An East Shownegon correspondent started the ball a-rolling and other towns are reporting. For instance, one of Larone's smart women ran the mowing machine to cut thirty-five tons of hay, did all the raking, helped load and unload, and did the housework for a family of five, which includes a young child, and is very much alive to-day. And from Brown's Corner: Mrs. John Richards has assisted in doing the housework for thirteen in family and did all the raking on four farms, and when her husband cut the hay on the fourth farm she did the housework all alone for twenty-one men and did the raking.

ments have been made for the reception of the election returns by telegraph and Lippin's hall has been thrown open for the accommodation of the public. Up to the time of going to press the storm had not materially interfered with the working of the telegraph wires.

The Complimentary Supper to Mr. Carpenter.—The complimentary supper to Matt H. Carpenter at the Hyatt house last night was not as numerously attended as we thought it would be; but it was nevertheless a very pleasant affair and enjoyed by all those who participated in it. The excellent host of the Hyatt house did himself credit as he always does in the preparation of the guests.

Curious Religious Sect.

There is at least one religious sect which is composed entirely of women. It was started two or three years ago by an elderly peasant woman of Soz-nova, in the Russian province of Samara, near the river Volga. She calls herself, and is called by her followers, "The Blessed Mother." She has a bodyguard of women known as the "Ten Wise Virgins," and these as well as herself are credited with remarkable powers. All her followers are women, and they live like troglodytes in holes in a cliff. They take it in turns to go to the villages for supplies, lead a life of fasting and prayer, hold their ritual at night, and believe that the world will, in a short time, perish in one grand conflagration.

WIDOWED HENS.

In the early summer a friend hired a house on Staten Island with all its belongings, indoors and out, the latter including a horse, a cow, pigs and poultry. While there were about 100 hens, there were but two roosters, and in this flock the eight-year-old daughter became deeply interested. "Papa," she said one day, "what are those two big chickens with red combs on their foreheads?" "Those, my child, are roosters," she was informed. "Well, what are roosters?" "They are the fathers," "Oh! And what are all the others?" "Why, they are the mothers." After a moment's reflection Edith innocently remarked: "My gracious, papa, what an awful lot of fathers must have died to leave so many mothers all alone."—New York Press.

Inspects American Railways.

R. Peacock, an Egyptian railroad man from Assout, is visiting this country. He is locomotive superintendent of the Egyptian state railways and has come here at the request of the government to inspect the American railways with a view to introducing some of the modern American methods of transportation into his country.

Impatient Mosquito.

It was in a well-regulated family of mosquitoes that had recently moved hither from New Jersey.

The wife said to the husband: "For pity's sake, Spiker, go and see what that child is crying about!"

Diffidly the husband arose from his bed and went into the children's room. When he returned his wife said:

"Well, what was the matter with little Probert?"

"Nothin' much," responded her good-natured husband, "except that he said he hadn't a good feed of crude oil since he left New Jersey, and he was just starting for it. I gave him a dose and he went to sleep contented. By the way, we must lay in a new supply to-morrow. We're all gettin' a little run down for this lack of it. We'd better move to Forest park."—Baltimore American.

To Tell Murder from Suicide.

Dr. Wallis, city of London coroner, said in a lecture recently that a weapon in the hand of a man who had been murdered is always tightly grasped, so that the fingers sometimes have to be severed before it can be released. In the case of suicide there is no grasp at all.

Poor George!

"How lucky," said Mrs. Nured, "that I happened to pass that cigar stand this morning! These cigars are exactly the shade of George's new smoking jacket, and the smart little green bands round them will go with the lining beautifully. Men never consider these little things."—London Tit-Bits.

Help Must Be Scarce in Georgia.

A round dozen or more Georgia poets have turned their harps to the song of prosperity, and no wonder; so many of them have obtained employment picking cotton at 75 cents the hundred!—Atlanta Constitution.

Says 'Mass Is Medieval.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 7.—Rev. Mr. Fellington, vicar of Hexton, England, protests emphatically to Bishop Tuttle against mass as celebrated in the Episcopal church. He declares it means a return to the medieval darkness of priestcraft and the destruction of the mission of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Russian Officer Is Promoted.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.—Maj. Gen. Mitshchenko, commander of the eastern Cossack brigade, has been appointed a lieutenant general and an aide-camp to the emperor for distinguished services.

Kills Wife and Himself.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 7.—"Bill" Hatfield shot and killed his wife, Maud, and then blew out his brains at Meeteetsee, Wyo. Jealousy was the cause.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.
The city of Fall River, Mass., recently voted down a proposition through its common council, to buy the electric lighting plant. This action was taken after careful investigation and comparison with a dozen neighboring cities.

The laws of Massachusetts require propositions of this kind to be voted on by the common council, then held over for two years and again submitted to the council. If passed by both bodies, the question then goes to the people. The Fall River council has voted favorably twice, and then decided to reconsider. The "Herald" of that city, in discussing the proposition, and commending the action, says:

The aldermen of this city are to be commended for their action of Monday evening, reversing the course of action which was in progress toward the establishment of a municipal lighting plant in this city. And they considered none too soon for had they not taken summary action, the final stage of the proceedings would have reached a popular vote, and there is enough uncertainty as to the fate of such a technical question in a popular election to make mischief, especially when the merits of the whole subject are so little understood as this is in the public mind.

Municipal street lighting is a beautiful theory, and so far as theory can suggest ought to work out beautifully in practice, but as the proof of the pudding is in the eating, experience has shown that it doesn't. On the contrary, the experience of municipalities making their own lights has been that the business prospers best in private hands and the city gets better and cheaper light from an independent company that it does running its own station. This is amply shown by statistics secured in cities which have made careful investigation of the subject. The city of Norwich, Conn., is at the present time in a pretty pickle because it has made this discovery only after having irretrievably committed itself to the purchase of the commercial plant of that city.

STOCK EXCHANGE SEATS.
A member of the Stock Exchange, says the Wall Street Journal, who has just sold his seat for $80,000, bought the same fifteen years ago for $20,000. His profit in fifteen years is therefore $60,000, or $1,000 a year, which is 20 per cent on the purchase price. Even if he had not availed himself of the privileges of the membership, but simply paid his dues and held the seat as an investment this would have been a handsome return on his money. But of course in addition to the profit on his seat he has been making a good living out of it every year.

Although the business of the Exchange has expanded marvellously in recent years, the membership has remained the same, being limited to 1,100. The result is that the memberships have increased in value very fast, especially as there are many members who take no active part on the floor, some holding their seats simply as an investment, or as they would in a club they seldom visited but whose distinction they appreciated, and others to be in a position, as principals, in large speculations, to get the benefit of the reduced commissions permitted on business done for fellow members.

A few years ago a million-share day was regarded as indicating the crisis of a movement. But a million shares a day is not now looked upon as large. It does not even indicate that the "public is in" the market. The prevailing belief is that we are rapidly approaching a period when a million shares will be simply the measure of a fair average day. It is reported from London that the exchange there is considering the desirability of limiting the membership and making every member a stockholder in the house. But the London Stock Exchange has nearly five times as many members as the New York, as well as a system of clerks entitled to the floor, unknown here. The question in New York may be whether an increase in membership may not be necessary in order to handle the business of the future.

The daily Gazette is read in 2,500 Janesville homes every evening, and 500 copies go to the farmers on rural routes every morning. The weekly reaches 3000 homes in the county every Wednesday and Saturday. This means that more than half the population of the county are regular readers of the paper. It is the best advertising medium in the county.

The per-capita cost of caring for the blind is larger than the per-capita cost of any other state institution. This is necessarily so, because the population is smaller, and a larger force is required in the work. The people do not complain however, and public sentiment demands wholesome food and plenty of it.

When the president of the State Board of Control gets through running for congress, he may be able to devote a little time in the work for which the state pays him. The governor is not expected to change his occupation.

The direct responsibility for the mismanagement of the State Institutions is with the Governor. The Board of Control is of his own appointing. They are the men in charge, and if they are incompetent the Governor is at fault and no one else.

The railroads of the state may be oppressive, but they are doing a good work for Janesville and Rock county just now. Thousands of tons of beasts are finding a market because the railroads have furnished the opportunity.

It will be noticed that there is a marked difference in the bill of fare for the State School for the Blind published yesterday, and the one for the last week in September published a few days ago. Public sentiment is frequently a good regulator.

The Panama canal will be completed under a republican administration, and the Philippine Islands will continue to enjoy the same wholesome government.

Senator Whitehead made an impassioned plea in his own defense at the opera house last Saturday night, and the people were with him, as will be determined when the votes are counted tonight.

The returns tonight will show that the people have voted for four years more of prosperity, under the wise administration of Theodore Roosevelt and the republican party.

The vote throughout the state today will determine whether radicalism or conservatism is in the assembly. If the latter prevails conditions will again become normal.

San Francisco is getting ready for an exposition to celebrate a centennial anniversary. The government of course will be expected to contribute.

In the conduct of State Institutions there are some things of more importance than a record of table economy.

President Roosevelt gained fresh laurels in his many defense against the attack of Judge Parker.

Good entertainments will be given in connection with election returns at both the Opera House and Coliseum tonight.

PRESS COMMENT.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Trot out the man who said that Alton B. Parker was a quiet, inoffensive gentleman of judicial mind and temper.

Madison Democrat: Political warfare is not as bad as the other kind but it is bad enough. However, it seems that we must have it.

Chicago News: In Wisconsin they wonder what this quiet campaign the rest of the country is talking about, looks like.

Exchange: According to the prophets on both sides, there is going to be some dangerous crowding on Salt river.

Chicago Record-Herald: Russia owes France $1,600,000,000. That settles it. Russell Sage will never have any respect for France after this.

Waupaca Post: Another day and the agony will be over. What's it all about, anyway?

Menominee Herald-Leader: And next month at this time people will be saying "Parker? Parker? who was he anyway?"

Chicago Inter Ocean: It is very plain, however, that Port Arthur cannot be affected by the Japanese reports of its intention to fall. If this had been the case it would have fallen long ago.

El Paso Herald: Next time, Russia will put up her prestige in moth balls and pack it away in cold storage instead of giving it into the keeping of generals and war vessels.

Evening Wisconsin: The idea of giving elementary instruction in football in the public schools could be carried out by encouraging rough and tumble fighting during recess. Somebody seems to be "daffy" on the game.

Atlanta Constitution: Dr. Wiley of the department of agriculture says the bulk of the whisky consumed in America has prime juice as its base. Hereafter we shall understand the literal significance of the hitherto vague expression, "full of prime juice."

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: The story that is going the rounds suggesting that Mr. Parker will call Mr. Bryan into his cabinet may be dealt with positively. Neither Mr. Bryan nor anybody else will be called by the gentle Esoplan.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: While Wisconsin spent a comparatively small sum on her agricultural exhibit at the world's fair, she managed to land her full share of awards. Badger barley and Badger cheese won first awards, though in the latter the state fell to eighth place. Wisconsin's exhibit was designed to show the diversity of her products, and in this it was eminently successful.

San Claude Leader: Governor La Follette says if he is defeated he'll begin another state campaign right after election. Well all right. He will certainly do so if he is elected—for he always has done so in the past. He is always campaigning, that's what he is there for. But there'll be this difference, if he is defeated his campaigning won't be at the expense of the state.

Kansas City Star: In hunting up the objectionable sights on the "Pike" Miss Helen Gould might have remembered the rebuke of Dr. Sam Johnson to the lady who congratulated him because the second edition of his dictionary was freed of many "bad words" which were defined in the first edition. "Ah, madam," returned the doctor, "I regret that you have been looking for them."

Minneapolis Journal: The spectacle of "Buffalo Bill" setting out with a car load of English tourists and two of his old-time Sioux scouts to catch bank robbers who have about a day's start of him is a fine one. This story, being telegraphed almost as it happens, leads to a great influx of English tourists armed to the teeth and still entertaining the classical English view that the United States consists of a fringe of backwoodsmen along the Atlantic coast backed by a savage wilderness. Bill has been in the posing business so long that he can't forget to pose whenever there is an opportunity.

Brooklyn Eagle: A poultry farm, whether ducks, geese, chickens or turkeys, accumulates a large and malodorous surplus of eggs that refuse to develop into fowls. The average person would suppose that it is there is anything on earth that is more worthless than a rotten egg. Millions of stale eggs are used every year in preparing leather dressings for gloves and bookbinding—an industry that is largely carried on in the foreign tenement houses of New York and other large cities. They are also used in manufacturing disinfectants and in the preparation of shoe blacking, and even the shells are made into fertilizers. The eggs that have not yet lost their virtue also have other uses besides the more common ones for culinary purposes. It is estimated that fully 55,000,000 dozen are used by the wine clarifiers, dye manufacturers and in the preparation of photographer's dry plates.

Literary Note.

The most searching, thorough, and authoritative study of the United States in the Philippines that has yet appeared is that contributed by Algeo Ireland to the November Atlantic. Mr. Ireland who is well known both in England and in the United States as one of the foremost authorities upon tropical colonization, has been spending the past three years in the far east in the study of comparative colonial administration as the special commissioner of the University of Chicago. No one else has written with such full view about the mistakes that have been made in the Philippine Islands or the things that have been accomplished. Mr. Ireland's paper should be read by every American voter while his concrete suggestions at the end of his paper for the effective government of the islands, based upon the sum of the experience of other European nations in the Far East should make very instructive reading for persons in power. 11 Park street, Boston.

Remarkable Evidence Presented in New York Divorce Suit.

New York, Nov. 8.—That in a stocking of autumnal hue she kept a $1,000 bill of golden tint is the latest assertion made in the proceedings for limited divorce brought in the supreme court by Florence Crosby Herrmann against her husband, George Herrmann. Herrmann is a well-known man about town, a member of several clubs, was formerly in the lumber business and has always been accounted wealthy. Arthur Cohen swore to the $1,000 bill incident and that he has seen Mrs. Herrmann at times wearing diamonds worth not less than $30,000. Herrmann alleges that his wife was friendly with many prominent men, both in this city and in Europe, prior to his marriage with her, and that he was not aware of this fact at the time of the ceremony.

STATE LEAGUE A POSSIBILITY NOW

ORGANIZER ARRIVES IN THE CITY TO DISCUSS MATTERS.

JANESVILLE ON THE LISTS

Plan is to Form a League of Twelve Cities Who Shall Play Base Ball Next Year.

Janesville may be represented in the Wisconsin State Baseball league which is about to be formed. Residents of the lower city have in prospect the delights of a continuous season of baseball, a team that may land the state pennant by good, hard, consistent playing. This is the alluring prospect that is being before the eyes of the baseball enthusiasts of the city. John T. Powers of Chicago is the man who is doing the urging and he may land his project before he leaves the city.

Good Prospects
Mr. Powers was in the city last evening to discuss his project with those interested. He portrays a brilliant future with Janesville as a member of the Wisconsin State league. As one of the members of a league composed of teams from the cities of Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Appleton, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Marinette, Kaukauna, Wausau, Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, La Crosse, and Janesville, fast baseball will be expected.

Mr. Powers
In talking of his project, Mr. Powers said: "I am trying to form a Wisconsin state league. I have visited eleven cities in the state and have received promises that they will have representatives at the meeting on November 15th in Oshkosh. Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Appleton, Sheboygan, Oshkosh, Marinette, Kaukauna, Wausau, Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, La Crosse, and I hope to have Janesville on my list before I leave the city."

An Organizer
"I have had considerable to do with baseball leagues in Chicago. For several years I was interested in the city league in Chicago and then conceived the idea of this state league. Wisconsin is the best state in the union for such a league and I see no reason why it should not be a success. I chose Janesville because of the good record of the team here made last summer and interest. In the report, the meeting at Oshkosh will decide matters definitely."

CALIFORNIA PAPER OFFERS A TRIBUTE

To the Late George Clark Who Died Suddenly at Orange on October 22.

There has come to the editorial desk of the Gazette a copy of the Orange Post of October 29, a paper published in Orange, Cal., which contains a tribute to the late George Clark, formerly of Janesville, who died suddenly on Oct. 22. Mr. Clark had been a sufferer with asthma for many years and moved to California from Michigan to seek relief. Heart trouble had developed and the sufferer had a severe attack on the Friday evening preceding his death. He was as much better in the morning, however, and had come out of the house to assist Mrs. Clark in harnessing a horse when he suddenly fell forward and expired. Mr. and Mrs. Clark had been in Orange for eight years. Mr. Clark having had charge of several ranches in the vicinity. He was fifty-four years old and is survived by a widow and two young children, a girl and a boy, and three brothers and a sister living in this state. Mrs. Clark on her sad journey to Janesville, was accompanied by her little son, the daughter, Alice, remaining with friends in Santa Ana during her absence. The Orange Post says of George Clark: "He was known as an industrious and faithful worker, an upright citizen, and a good man in every respect, though quiet and unobtrusive in his nature. He was a devoted husband and father and a kind and genial neighbor and friend."

Some time had elapsed before the customer took in the situation. He then called to his assistance another barber and finally left, swearing eternal vengeance against the shop. Everyone is glad that the cruel war is nearly over.

BANNERS FLYING ON TRIPP'S FARM

and three banners bearing the name of Roosevelt, Fairbanks and Spooner. The Cooper banner was not unfolded, but Mr. Tripp says that if he had heard Mr. Jeffris' speech 24 hours earlier he would have had a banner made for Peck. Mr. Tripp is a republican of the old school and like many others he did not propose to be read out of the party.

JANESVILLE ARTIST HOME FROM EUROPE

Mrs. Eleanor G. Stetson, Famous Pastel Painter, Has Arrived in Chicago.

Mrs. Eleanor G. Stetson, daughter of D. C. Burdick of this city, who has attained wide celebrity as a pastel painter, recently arrived in Chicago after a long sojourn in the art centers of Paris, London, Rome, and Florence. She is going to test Chicago as patrons of art. Until very recently the notable ballet girls in yield reds and rose and rainbow colors were thought to have been painted by a man. The signature "E. G. Stetson," always daubed attractively in one corner of the canvas was believed to be masculine in character and Mrs. Stetson is able to relate some amusing incidents of listening before art shop windows in the old world to the comments of passers-by. In Chicago she is best known as the creator of "The Lion's Bride," a picture which received the most favorable endorsement of the critics at the world's fair, and by her portrait of William McKinley at the Hamilton club. In Washington she is socially a favorite with the circle presided over by Mrs. Colby, editor of the Women's Tribune, the official organ of the women's clubs. The Chicago Inter Ocean in presenting a large portrait of Mrs. Stetson in a recent issue concluded a laudatory accompanying sketch with the statement that she is a descendant of Ethan Allen Doty of Mayflower fame.

DEATH SUMMONS SHERMAN FISHER

BREATHED HIS LAST NEAR NOON TODAY.

FERRIBLE SHOCK TO FRIENDS

Many of Whom Were Not Aware That He Was Critically Ill—The McCue Funeral.

Sherman M. Fisher's genial smile and cheery greeting will be seen and heard no more. Shortly before eleven o'clock this morning, after an illness so sudden and brief that few knew him to be seriously afflicted, he laid down the burden of this world's cares and passed quietly into that unknown country from which not one returns to tell us of the path. Of the younger business men of this city none had more real friends than he. The news of his death is a profound shock to all.

Resident Here Eight Years
Two weeks ago Friday Mr. Fisher was compelled to desist from work on account of what he at first believed was an attack of rheumatism. Lowell trouble followed and last evening an internal abscess was broken, producing blood poisoning which was the cause of his death. He was about forty years of age. As near as could be learned this afternoon, coming here about eight years ago from Clinton Junction where he had been engaged as a telegraph operator he found employment in the North-Western yard tower and was telegrapher there for a short time. He later assumed a position in Frank Kimball's furniture store and undertaking rooms.

Member of the Woodmen
Mr. Fisher was deeply interested in fraternal work and was held in high regard by Modern Woodmen, of which order he was a member, throughout the surrounding country. He was a member of the drill team which went to St. Louis. A wife and two children, Hazel and Scott, survive him. Other relatives are three brothers—J. H. Fisher of Freeville, John of Center, and George of Green. The family of his wife's parents consists of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gray and five children—George of Minneapolis, John, Maude, Stella, and N. W. Gray of Fond du Lac. The funeral will probably be held some time Thursday.

Michael McCue
The remains of the late Michael McCue arrived in the city from Chicago at 11:45 this morning and were taken immediately to the St. Patrick's church where services were held. The Rev. James A. McElhinney officiated. The pallbearers were all, consists of the deceased—John McCue, Michael McCue, Michael Birmingham, Thomas Birmingham, John Birmingham, and Michael Birmingham. The remains were interred in Mount Olivet cemetery.

PROSPECTS FOR SOUTH DAKOTA

Janesville Man Writes of Politics in That State—At Fever Heat.

Mr. Henry Gagan of the firm of Thoroughgood & Co., who is now in South Dakota writes interestingly of the political situation in that state. From what he can observe the main question there is, "Where shall we have our state capital?" and writing from Huron, S. D., under date of Nov. 6th he says:

"The state will vote Tuesday on whether the state capital shall be changed from Pierre to Mitchell. The North-Western are willing to have it stay in Pierre and the St. Paul road is endeavoring to secure it for Mitchell. The latter being located on the Chicago line and the former on the North-Western. Roosevelt and Parker put very little figure in the campaign, the main question is 'What shall we do with our capital?' The C. & N. W. and the C. M. & St. P. have for the past three weeks been furnishing free transportation to all passengers in the state. It is hard on non-residents through this conflict as I had to sleep on a cot in a hall in Aberdeen and was one of the few who slept, while a large portion of the population discussed the important question of the state capital, there being no room at the inn for the great number of strangers. I have not made any railroad fare since I reached South Dakota. Anyone who can get on a train or have a free ride, nearly every one having a banner around his neck with the name of the place in which he wishes the capital located. One hundred and forty-four coaches went yesterday and yet the superintendent of the road and the newspapers stated that the travel was very light on that day in comparison with every day during the past three weeks. I am sure to know that Tuesday, the 8th, will settle the matter as I would like to get a good place to sleep and a good square meal once more."

No Change in Valuation: The equalization committee of the county board at the session this week decided to make no change in the 1903 valuations of the towns, villages, and cities. There was a suggestion that the county valuation be increased from $11,000,000 to $25,000,000 so as to be more nearly in conformity with the state assessment of $20,000,000 but this was vigorously opposed.

Won Death Race.

George Victor In the Vanderbilt Auto Cup Contest.

George Heath, winner of the Vanderbilt auto cup, in the recent hair raising contest in Nassau county, N. Y., is a wealthy American who has lived in Paris during the last six or seven years.

Heath drove a French machine and competed for the Automobile Club of France. His victory over the leading auto experts of America and Europe was the reward of supreme recklessness and of absolute mastery of his ninety horsepower machine.

While others dawdled madly around on two wheels.

When his rivals, steered to one side to avoid soft spots in the road Heath plunged straight on, grinding stones and dirt under his ponderous wheels, at the same time trying desperately to stick to his auto, which rocked from side to side like a storm tossed warship, rudderless in the trough of the sea.

While others feared for life and limb and held their speed to sixty miles an hour, Heath, making eighty miles, wondered if he could raise his speed to ninety on the next lap. On, he whirled, swift as a cannon shot. A competitor, young George Abbot, in a vain endeavor to wrest the lead from Heath, crashed into a tree, killing his machine, Carl Muesel, but on sped Heath to glory, to fame and to victory.

Albert Clement, H. H. Little, Tarte and Charles Smith, listed after Heath in the order named.

At Hempstead, on the fourth lap, Heath's tire exploded, and he was delayed while repairs were made.

E. E. Hawley in J. H. Thomas' sixty horsepower machine, representing the Automobile Club of Germany, had been considered a possible winner up to the fourth lap of the course, when he broke two springs in his machine and left the race.

At the end of ninety miles Teste had broken all records in this country and abroad, making the distance in 76 minutes 29 seconds.

The showing made by the Americans in the race was a revelation to many, and it was expected that Frank Croker would be well up among the leaders at the finish, barring accident. His machine broke down.

Besides Gabriel and Hawley others who dropped out of the race were William Wallace, a rich Boston amateur; Joseph Tracey, in a car owned by C. A. Duerr, and George Arends, Jr., in a sixty horsepower machine owned by himself. Wallace's car met with an accident at Jericho, in which his assistant was hurt, and he left the race at the control at Hicksville.

Tracey broke a shaft in Queens in the first lap, but later resumed with a new one. He had hardly re-entered the race, however, when a cylinder gave out.

SIGNS POINT TO AN UNUSUAL VOTE

OVER HALF THE BALLOTS IN AT ONE O'CLOCK.

MACHINES WORKING NICELY

And In Some Wards Three Votes Were Registered in a Minute—Appeal for Women's Suffrage.

Notwithstanding the gloom which hung over the city and the unusual quietude of the streets, there was every indication this noon that the record vote predicted for the city was to be polled. Yesterday William W. Willis, the expert machinist who has charge of the voting machines, labored unceasingly to get them in position and ready for business and at six o'clock this morning everything was in readiness at the five booths.

How the Vote Stood
There was a large crowd at all the booths when the polls opened and at one o'clock this afternoon a total of 1,911 votes was polled. The vote stood as follows:

2d Wd.....401	Registration—581
3d Wd.....451	Registration—937

Appeal of Ladies
Tacked on telephone poles near the voting booths a notice for signatures and a lead pencil attached in behalf of the ladies. Voters in the first ward were so unaccustomed that there was not a single signature under their names at noon. WASTING AWAY

It's the small but constant loss of flesh that indicates physical waste—the gradual slipping away of healthy flesh, pound by pound, which no ordinary food seems to restore. Scott's Emulsion is the greatest flesh builder obtainable. Scott's Emulsion first stops the wasting—that's one gain. Then when it supplies new flesh and takes one back to normal strength and weight, that's another gain and a big one.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it. It is disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance, the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing. You may have come to the necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Pugilistic Pointers.

Young Corbett and "Battling" Nelson—Jimmy Britt.

Ringside Gossip.

By THOMAS F. CLARK.

Falling to secure a return match with Jimmy Britt and tired of resting on his oars, Young Corbett has tied himself up with that steedling fighter, "Battling" Nelson, at 130 pounds.

The battle, barring unforeseen happenings, will take place before the Hayes Valley club of San Francisco, Nov. 29. While no championship battle, owing to Britt's victory over Corbett, hinges on the result of the contest, the winner will have a strong claim on the featherweight title, because Britt has stepped into the light-weight class to fight Joe Gans.

Of course Britt will undoubtedly claim sole right to the featherweight title, but the winner of the Nelson-Corbett encounter will hold the whip hand when it comes to dictating terms.

The weight agreed upon is two pounds more than Nelson demanded, as he can scale 128 easily. But he accepted rather than toss off the match.

Corbett will meet Jabez White, the acknowledged lightweight champion of England, should he defeat Nelson and fall to invade Britt into a match.

Charley Mitchell, the old time fighter, represented White in the recent negotiations regarding the match and talked some of making it for $10,000 a side.

Corbett says that Britt is afraid of him, and pugilistic critics are of the same opinion. Britt made a grand stand play in taking on Joe Gans and deliberately broke the agreement he made with the Denverite to give him the first chance. However, Britt will be forced to take on Young Corbett in the course of time, and then the Denver lad will have a chance to avenge himself.

After the Nelson fight Young Corbett will again fight Terry McGovern.

Corbett says: "I am going to fight Nelson first, but I don't intend to forget McGovern. I agreed to fight him in Philadelphia, and the match still stands. I will fight him just as soon as I leave El Paso for the east."

Little Abe Attell, who lost a decision to Tommy Sullivan recently at St.

Louis, is still loud in his assertions that he was fouled out of the fight.

Unfortunately for Attell, the little Californian is given to the claim of fouls on the slightest provocation.

It was this well known weakness on the part of Attell which made the referee dubious as to the genuineness of his claim.

Home Health Club

By DAVID H. REEDER, Ph.D., M.D.
La Porte, Ind.

It is wise to know as much as possible about the various kinds of neuralgia, and be prepared to treat each kind successfully, because there are numerous characteristics to the pains of neuralgia; and the same kind of treatment does not apply equally to all. Whether all of the different kinds of pain come from the same original predisposing cause or not remains yet to be proved. A superficial view would, however, tell us that there are as many causes as kinds, and some might think that a different method of cure was required in each case; but this is not true. In the case cited in a recent lecture the contraction of the muscles of the head was what caused the nerves to cry out in pain, and we found that as soon as moist heat relaxed the muscles the pain was gone. Now there may be a case where there has been no chill from draught or anything else; but some actual trouble in the state of the bone, or some violent affection of the nerves of the teeth and face generally, or, as is sometimes the case, the nerves of the arms or legs, the pain occurring periodically and with the most intense suffering. In such a case we are directed to the spinal column, from which so many of the nerves branch out over the body; and in this case we find cold to be the remedy. The nerves in this case correspond to the wires of the telegraph, carrying messages to and fro. They have been too active and become heated, or at least this is a good comparison, and cooling them gives the required relief.

Take a case such as I once had of a strong man of middle age who for a year or more had been afflicted this way. Thirty minutes' treatment with the cold compress to the spine, repeated every other night for a week, effected a complete cure. Twitching of the muscles ceased almost instantly, and a feeling of comfort followed the first shock to the skin.

Cold Compress.

Procure four large towels, two of them Turkish, if they are to be had conveniently; keep the latter dry. Fold them lengthwise to about four ply. Place the other two towels in cold water until they are of the right temperature; wring one of them out and fold it lengthwise in eight ply, and lay it on the dry Turkish towel. Then place these upon the bed, let the sufferer lie down full length of the spine upon this, with the cold, wet towel next to the skin. The pain is quickly reduced, but returns as the heat of the body warms the towels. We then, say in about two minutes, repeat the process with the other two towels, changing them thus for perhaps 20 or 40 minutes, when the pain will, in most cases, have disappeared, not to return for a day or so at least. In finishing the process of cooling the spinal nerves it is wise to first wet the back gently with hot vinegar or diluted acetic acid, and then, with warm olive oil or vasoline, rubbing the lubricant well into the skin, manipulating the flesh in all directions and as deeply as possible. This frees the circulations and keeps the nervous system in the state to which it has been brought, and gives a sense of great comfort.

Tobacco and Neuralgia.

There are cases in which these simple remedies seem to be of no avail; and to these we must now pay some attention. Sometimes I do not at all pity a man who is suffering all sorts of pain that has been brought on by the use of tobacco or alcohol, and I feel like saying: "You bargained for this; now pay the price."

But such sufferers are never willing that the blame should rest where it belongs, and as a rule they are pitiful objects of cowardice regarding pain. A great, strong man will groan and moan, and even cry with pain, and if, when he is well, his wife should happen to make a little complaint, although suffering actually much more than he, he will make some brutal remark about her babyishness or laugh at her. The use of tobacco and alcohol not only injures the nerves beyond permanent repair, but it blunts the sensibilities, and in many cases changes otherwise a refined gentleman into a coarse, sensual brute. Such people usually have neuralgic pains in great violence when they do come, and they will prove a very different subject from the individual who is not artificially creating the mischief which the treatment is fitted to remove. There has been an alternate deadening and irritating of the nervous system, resulting in great loss of sensibility in one direction and accumulations and irritations in the other.

The mere cold, which reduces the violent action of the nerves, which have not been so treated, will not so readily effect a cure in this case. But it will go far enough to show its healing power; and if the artificial mischief-making is abandoned the distress may be relieved. If, however, the evil effect of the narcotics and stimulants has gone so far that great loss of vitality is manifested, it may be necessary to use heat to the spine, instead of cold. Take as a case in view that of a habitual user of both tobacco and liquor who is reduced to such a point that there is a numbness in his toes and in the head. The mode of treatment will be to sponge the spinal column first with hot vinegar and then give it the rubbing with olive oil, after which a hot fomentation should be placed along the spine in such a way as to infuse new life and heat into the entire body. After the heat has begun to permeate the body the cold compress may be applied to the head, if, in the judgment of the physician, it would be of benefit. The extent of any such treatment must always be determined by the good judgment and common sense of the attendant.

These papers are intended to benefit the masses. The users of tobacco and liquor are in the minority, or I am glad to believe that their number is growing less continually. One man who uses tobacco is in many cases found in the average family in which there are five persons—husband, wife and three children—one selfish one out of the five—who forces not only his loved ones, but all with whom he comes in contact, to inhale the foul odors of his indulgence. It is the other four that we wish to give the most benefit, for there are great numbers of these who suffer all manner of pains. A growing child, a nursing mother, or sometimes a fair young girl, may be the victim; and I would be greatly helped if all those who use these methods of reducing pain would write me of their experiences. Each intelligent worker will find out new methods, and by giving a knowledge of it to the world, help some other sufferer out of trouble. If it is yourself who is the recipient of the benefit, write and let me know of it, and describe as nearly as you can the method of cure in detail. If you acted in the capacity of nurse, or were enabled to relieve the sufferings of another, tell me how you did it, so that others may know of it.

CLUB NOTES.

J. S. must write again and give full name and address, otherwise no answer will be given.

Hartford, Dr. David H. Reeder, LaPorte, Ind.—Dear Doctor: Time has proven the correctness of your diagnosis of my case. I have not a floating kidney. The symptoms which led to the error have all disappeared after following the simple and practical suggestions which you wrote me. I did as you told me and was saved from a costly and useless surgical operation, with all of the attendant dangers. I am now as well as ever, thanks to you a thousand times. I am sure that all club readers fully appreciate the great interest which you take in us. Cordially yours, Mrs. P. H. Record No. 6939.

It is an easy matter to be mistaken in regard to the symptoms of floating kidney, and you should attach no blame to your physician. Another member of the club wrote me a couple of months ago of his wife. She had already gone to the hospital for the operation. I sent a special message in reply and had a skillful surgeon of my acquaintance examine the case. He, as well as the head surgeon of the hospital, pronounced it a mistake and the wife was sent home, where she followed my suggestions for overcoming the trouble and is now quite well. Surgery is, in many cases of various kinds, absolutely necessary if a cure is desired, but whenever possible there should always be secured able counsel before the operation is performed.

New Boston, Ill.—Dr. David H. Reeder, LaPorte, Ind.—Dear Doctor: I am inclosing a short item for Club Notes, which may prove to be of value to some of the Home Health Club readers. It is really too bad that in spite of the modern training afforded by our great medical colleges, the death rate from pneumonia is distressingly large. Reforms seem to creep in very slowly. How many generations must pass before pneumonia will be treated in a rational and successful manner? Yours truly, A. S. B.

The following, which is called "The Onion Cure," is the method referred to and as it must be, when properly handled, a safe method, I can see no reason why it should not be successful. The most successful methods recently taught by medical men are the same as those which have always been advocated by me.

"This remedy, which is claimed to be infallible, was formulated many years ago by a well-known physician in New England, who never lost a patient by pneumonia. Take six or ten onions, according to size, and chop fine. Put in a large spider over a hot fire, adding about the same quantity of rye meal and vinegar to form a stiff paste. Stir thoroughly and simmer five or ten minutes. Put in a cotton bag, large enough to cover the lungs and apply to the chest just as hot as the patient can bear it. In about ten minutes change the poultice, and thus continue reheating and applying, and in a few hours the patient will be out of danger. And just here a word of precaution. In applying this or any other hot poultice, care must be exercised not to let the patient get chilled during the changing process. Have the hot one all ready to go on before the cooling one is removed, and make the change so swiftly and deftly that there is not a moment's exposure of the body surface, which becomes exceedingly sensitive to a chill."

All communications for the Home Health Club should be addressed to Dr. David H. Reeder, LaPorte, Ind., and contain name and address in full and at least four cents in postage.

Let In the Sunshine.

Open the windows and doors of the house, let the sun shine in the rooms all day. Hang the bedding out on a line in the yard and let the sun and air thoroughly renovate it. Get everything soaked and saturated with the mellow October sunshine. It will make it pure and wholesome and clean. —Medical Talk for the Home.

"Adding Insult to Injury."

According to a fable, a fly once bit the bald pate of a man, who, endeavoring to crush it, gave himself a heavy blow. Then the fly said jeeringly: "You wanted to revenge the sting of a tiny fly with death; what will you do to yourself, who have added insult to injury?"

MADMAN ATTACKS GIRL IN ELEPHANT HOUSE

Nearly Overcomes Keeper and Three Policemen, Who Prevent His Tossing Child to Brute.

New York, Nov. 8.—Because he persisted in frightening little children in the elephant house in Central park, Palmer S. Ely, member of a well-known family of East Orange, N. J., was arrested and later sent to the psychopathic ward in Bellevue hospital.

Ely first attracted attention in the elephant house by snapping several little girls who were intently watching one of the biggest elephants slowly masticate a bale of hay. Keeper Snyder witnessed the act and ran toward him, but before he could get to him Ely grabbed one girl and attempted to throw her under the feet of the elephant. Snyder reached the man before he could do that and then began a struggle that lasted for several minutes, and it ended only when the keeper was reinforced by three policemen. Ely seemed possessed of superhuman strength and for a time it looked as if he would overcome the quartet of powerful men who were trying to subdue him.

Ely had been undergoing treatment at a sanitarium at East Orange.

FREE RIDES FOR WOMEN BRING THEM TO TOWN

Iowa Merchants Offer Prizes to Farmers Who Bring Largest Loads on Saturdays.

Webster City, Iowa, Nov. 8.—Iowa merchants in the smaller towns have devised a scheme which induces all of the "woman folks" of the rural districts to "come to town" on Saturday. Prizes are offered for the farmer who brings the largest load of farm produce to town on one day. As a result farmers are lying awake at night planning schemes for the winning of the weekly prize.

One farmer near Ames, named Ward, drove into Ames with a wagon drawn by six horses. An additional set of wheels had been put in the rear of the vehicle. The floor of the wagon had been converted into a double-decker. He drove for miles in all directions in the vicinity of his home, inviting the women to ride with him. When he reached Ames he carried an assembly of seventy-nine persons. He won the prize for that Saturday. The fact is being taken up by merchants in all of the smaller cities and towns and is said to have stimulated trade to a wonderful degree.

Wear Fewer Corsets.

Vienna is experiencing a slump in corsets. The chamber of commerce attributes the great decrease in their manufacture during the year to the publication of a medical opinion condemning tight lacing, and also to the extension of the "reform-kid," or rational dress. All corset factories have reduced the number of their employees and some have closed altogether.

Cancer and Crabs.

At the recent meeting of the British association Dr. Adamkiewicz read a paper upon "Is der Krebs erblich?" ("Is Cancer Hereditary?") Unfortunately, the program had it "erdlich" (earthly). So the London Times next day announced that the doctor had read a paper upon "Is the Crab a Sea or Land Animal?"
